

The 2008 Eastern District Conference and Federal Bar Association CLE

Presents

Professor James W. McElhaney

“Planning to Win - - The Hunt for the Winning Story”

September 5, 2008 at the Davenport Hotel in Spokane

(Approved for 4.0 CLE credits)

Now is the time to pay your 2008-09 FBA membership dues and register for the 2008 District Conference. This year, the FBA is proud to announce that its keynote speaker is Professor James W. McElhaney, the preeminent teacher, writer and speaker on Trial Techniques in North America. He will be presenting his dynamic CLE at the Conference entitled “Planning to Win -- The Hunt for the Winning Story.” Whether as a new or returning member of the FBA, now is the time to pay your 2008-09 dues so you can attend this great event!

Registration will open at 11:45 AM and is FREE with your $40 annual membership dues payment for 2008-09 (see form below). The Conference and CLE will start at 12:30 PM in the beautiful Davenport Hotel located at 10 S. Post Street in downtown Spokane. The annual FBA reception will immediately follow the program. Please note that lunch is not included.

Professor McElhaney has given over 800 seminars, speeches and workshops on evidence, procedure and trial practice in the United States and Canada. Professor McElhaney is perhaps most widely known as the author of the most popular feature in the American Bar Association Journal, Litigation, on the topics of Evidence, Procedure and Winning Trial Techniques. He has also written three highly acclaimed books: Effective Litigation (West Pub. Co. law school course book); McElhaney's Trial Notebook (ABA 4th ed., 2005) -- the ABA's all-time bestseller; and McElhaney's Litigation (ABA, 1995). Please pay your 2008-09 dues now, and we will see you at the Conference!
